

It only takes an instant for a fire to start.

In a matter of seconds, a fire can take hold.

A business, or a home goes up in smoke.

Tens of thousands - hundreds of thousands - of pounds of damage is done in the next few minutes.

Damage that insurers are left to pay for.

We protect commercial and residential kitchens from the devastation of fire, ending preventable fires by designing, installing and maintaining the best fire suppression systems on the market today.

Extinguishing fires within four seconds of them starting.

By partnering with insurers, we'll put our systems in kitchens across the UK.

We'll save lives. We'll save livelihoods. And we'll save you millions of pounds each and every year.

It only takes an instant more for an MKFS fire suppression system to extinguish it.

First for fire suppression.

Since 2013, Marlowe Kitchen Fire Suppression (MKFS) has been the hospitality industry's leading partner for fire safety. As part of the Marlowe Fire and Security Group, we safeguard lives and livelihoods.

With tens of thousands of pounds of damage to repair and an average of 8 weeks of business interruption, kitchen fires cost insurers huge amounts every time they happen.

And with 80% of restaurants that suffer a fire going out of business within 18 months, they cost you customers too.

By protecting your customers, we'll protect your bottom line.

ANSUL R-102 Restaurant Fire Suppression System

Incorporating fusible link detectors and automatic Ansulox low pH liquid agent dispensers, the R-102 protects people and property around the clock.

ANSUL Piranha Dual Agent Suppression System

The Piranha is the only water-plus-agent hybrid fire suppression system on the market, and consistently outperforms all conventional single agent systems.

First for service.

When it comes to safety, we dot every 'i' and cross every 't' to provide a complete fire suppression service. Visit our website for full information on our design, installation and commissioning services.

Fire protection just got simpler.

Working hand-in-hand with the insurance industry, we recommend the right systems for your policyholders, work with them to install and maintain those systems, and carry out regular servicing to reduce their risk of fire.

And your potential costs.

Fires lead to expensive damage and even more expensive business interruptions.

They lead to you losing customers as they lose their livelihoods.

But they don't have to.

Make our suppression systems a precondition of your policies, and you won't be left footing the costs for repairs, refurbishment and business interruption.

And when you partner with us, they won't.

Instead, with instant fire suppression and a unique easy-to-clean suppression medium, your policyholders will be left with significantly less damage and interruption if a fire does break out.

And you'll be left with significantly lower costs.

MKFS and you. A perfect partnership.

When it comes to reducing risks, we're on the same page as you. If you're serious about safer kitchens, reduced damage and - crucially - lower payout values, we're here to work alongside you.
